The Miyako bag handle is a truly unique model, as its design is patented and exclusively made by Miyako. A leather accessory, made in France, that will allow you to put together a bag in few seconds, with the only addition of a squared piece of fabric of 90 cm per side and up. It's also removable, which means that you can create as many bags as you want, just by changing the fabric.

Behind the brand Miyako, there's the passion of a firm for Japan and its thousand-year old concept of furoshiki (a traditional Japanese wrapping cloth, used to carry clothes, gifts, or other goods). This is where the inspiration for the creation of this leather bag handles and straps come from: they're born to be used in making DIY bags. A high-quality product that is also eco-friendly, for it uses non-toxic dyes for the tanning.

Instructions included are in French, but the video tutorial is easily available and accessible to everyone.
